MALABAR CANCER CENTRE- AN OVERVIEW

Malabar Cancer Centre, Thalassery is an autonomous institution under Department of Health and Family Welfare, Government of Kerala, established in the year 2000 for providing a comprehensive cancer care with a global perspective. Since its inception Malabar Cancer Centre grown tremendously in terms of treatment and prevention of cancer. A collaborative and compassionate team effort is needed to alleviate the sufferings of cancer; however the increasing incidence of cancer demands sufficient man power in order to deliver a quality cancer care. So Malabar Cancer Centre realized the need for mobilizing a task force for delivering quality cancer care, and this can be accomplished through conducting various academic programs in cancer care. As a part of this agenda we took a step towards better care for patients and molding professionally competent nurses through an intensive training program in oncology nursing.

Malabar cancer centre has technologically advanced departments of Radiation Oncology, Surgical Oncology, Medical Oncology and Pediatric Oncology supported by allied services such as Pathology, Laboratory services and Translational research, Imageology, Nuclear Medicine, Anesthesiology, Microbiology, Nutrition and Dietetics, Transfusion Medicine, Laboratory services and Nursing services. The center also has separate divisions for Community Oncology, Medical Records, Cancer Registry and Epidemiology, Clinical Research and biostatistics, Palliative Medicine, Dentistry and Rehabilitation, and Computerized Hospital Information system management. The information support for all these activities is provided by a well-organized Library & Information services division.

The Nursing Department plays a crucial role in delivering ample care to clients undergoing specialized oncology services, bone marrow transplantation, safe handling and administration of chemotherapeutic drugs and management of side effects of chemotherapy in adults and children. In addition to this, the division conducts special clinics on stoma care and lymph edema prevention. Educational activities are an integral part of the Department. We conduct regular in-service educational sessions for the nursing staff and also offer clinical experience and orientation updates to Under Graduate and Post Graduate Nursing students from Government as well as Private Nursing Colleges.

Trained oncology nurses are in great demand in national and international cancer centres and hospitals. Post Basic Diploma in Oncology Nursing (PBDON) is meant for fulfilling this ever increasing demand. The duration of the course is one academic year and is meant for qualified nurses (GNM/ B.Sc. Nursing). The aim of this course is to upgrade the knowledge and skills of trained nurses and to create a squad of specialty trained oncology nurses capable of providing comprehensive and individualized care to patients undergoing various cancer treatment modalities such as chemotherapy, radiation therapy, surgery and palliation.

Institute of Nursing Sciences and Research, Malabar Cancer Centre (INSeR)

Philosophy

We the faculty of Institute of Nursing Sciences and Research, Malabar Cancer Centre believe that nursing is a human care service focused on the care of individuals, families, and communities to accomplish optimal health and improvement of quality of life of people.

We also believe that a nurse should possess the mandatory qualification of commitment, compassion, competence and in-depth sense of empathetic consideration during the practice.

We strongly believe that in accordance with the technological advancement and knowledge explosion, human needs and expectations are ever changing. Despite of all the developments, threats and challenges of health are increasing day by day.

We believe that the nurses being the key workforce in the Health care delivery system, nursing education should be equipped with knowledge, skill, affection and a vast amount of common sense.

We accept as true that nursing research, evidence-based practice and problem-solving abilities must be incorporated in the day to day teaching-learning activities of the institution.

We the faculty believe that by-products of this institution would have a deep sense of dedication and a sense of unconditional acceptance of the individuality poor, unprivileged, abandoned, discriminated and sick disabled people in the society.

We strongly believe that the blossom buds must have the capability to understand the importance of love, respect and passionate service to our senior citizens.

We intend to develop a new generation of nurses who can lead health care services in to with their knowledge, wisdom, commitment, compassion and empathy not only within the walls of institution, but in the community bringing in welcome changes in the health scenario of the world.

Vision

Our Vision is to generate nurses to lead the healthcare sectors with compassion, capability and commitment

Mission

Our mission is to promote professionalism by value based education and integration of education, research and practice with a view to promote universal brotherhood.
